Job Description

Due to an exciting period of growth, StandardFusion currently has an opportunity for a Software Developer intern to join our team in Vancouver, BC for summer 2025 (ideally May - August 2025).

As our new Software Developer, some of your responsibilities will include:

Collaborating with other developers, and departments to design and create technical solutions that exceed customer expectations

Promoting good modern software engineering practices through design and code reviews

Being a team player who enjoys collaborating with, learning from, mentoring, and teaching other team members to create a positive work environment

Translating customer and team needs into functional, intuitive, and appealing applications to ensure a great user experience

Troubleshooting problems and optimizing applications for speed and responsiveness

Helping us grow. We need someone who's willing to go the extra mile and help to generate ideas, solve problems and grow with the company. Add to the discussion, take on your own projects, and see how you can impact the overall business.

Job Requirements

Previous experience with any of the following will be considered an asset:

.NET (C# or VB), MVC, Visual Studio, and other Microsoft-centric development technologies

HTML/CSS/JavaScript/TypeScript

SQL Server, MySQL, or other relational databases

Linux-based operating systems and tools

Hosting websites, managing servers, or working with AWS, Azure, etc.

UI/UX Design

Front-end frameworks such as React

Unit testing or end-to-end testing frameworks

Understanding of CI/CD pipelines and practices

As our ideal candidate, you have a solid understanding of PCs and Windows, networking fundamentals, security/cryptography, and general IT troubleshooting. You have impeccable written and spoken English language skills, as well as effective critical thinking and problem-solving skills. Above all, you are an enthusiastic self-starter who's keen to contribute to a rapidly growing organization.

Candidates with an entrepreneurial mindset who are eager to learn and interested in growing with StandardFusion are strongly encouraged to apply.

Citizenship Requirement N/A
